Yay! You did it! You completed module one!

And you either created a Facebook group or you went through your current Facebook group settings just to make sure everything's in place.

You deserve a gold star.

Now in the next few modules we're going to look at growing that group, engaging that group, hiring for that group if it comes to that, but also launching in that group.

So we're going to talk about warming up that audience, building that audience, and making you the leader of that community.

I'm excited for you. I hope you're excited too.
